SOIL BANK BUSTED

Seco Philosopher Has Good Idea For Surplus

Editor's note: The Seco Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm has a new idea for the farm surplus problem, but outside of saying it's new, that's about all you can say for it.

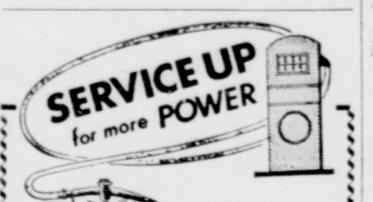

Dear editor:

Now that the Soil Bank has about gone busted, at least I read in a paper last night that Congress has decided it should close up after this year and be written off as a failure, and now that Sec. Benson has declared that it is virtually impossible to control farm production, and now that the drought is over in many sections of the country and a bumper crop is in prospect, the problem of a farm surplus once more is coming to the front and the door is now open for new ideas on its solution.

According to Mr. Benson, a "technological explosion" has taken place on the farm, due to machinery, and the production per farm worker has doubled in the last 15 years, which makes the problem of surpluses worse than ever.

Now while it may be true production per worker has doubled in the last 15 years on the average, I'd like to point out in passing that this is no average farm out here, and if my production is any better now than it was 15 years ago, I can't tell it.

But as for the solution to the farm surplus problem, I hate to see Mr. Benson give up, and would like to offer an idea.

PUT ACTION IN YOUR ENGINE

Drive in for a tankful of our premium quality gasoline and get more power from your car. Always see us first for service.

LUTZ
Sinclair
Service
ON THE HWY.

The trouble with us farmers is, we aren't style conscious. How far would the car manufacturers get if they brought out the same model cars year after year? The inside of the engine doesn't have to be any different, it still uses gas, oil and water, but if the windshield and the back fenders and the height of the top weren't changed from year to year, nobody would feel self-conscious about driving a car 10 years old, and how many new cars would get sold?

But what does a farmer do? He goes right on raising the same style wheat or rice or corn or cotton or potatoes or beans he's been raising for generations. A bushel of wheat today looks exactly like a bushel of wheat when Pharaoh farmed the Nile and rested in the shade of a pyramid. A man with a warehouse full of 1952 cotton has the same style cotton the cotton farmers will flood the market with this year.

Farmers just haven't caught on to the fact people are style-conscious. Why some people are so style-conscious if the plumbers were smart they could get them to change bathtubs every year if they had bathtub style showers like automobile showers and could attach a sweep-back fender to the things. They could get people where they wouldn't be caught using a last-year's sink.

The agricultural experts ought to get to work on this idea. The only way to get rid of the surplus is to make last year's carry-over as out-of-date as a car that's tall enough for a man to get into without knocking his hat off.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

By Mrs. Ida Jungman

M&M Frank Adam, of Polk, visited M&M Oscar Kaufmann Wednesday.

M&M R. W. Taitt and son, Lawson, of Harlington, spent Wednesday night with her mother, Mrs. Mary Jungman. On Thursday, they went over to Hondo, where Mr. Taitt participated in Memorial Day services.

M&M Erwin Leossberg, of Noonan were callers in the Oscar Kaufmann home Monday.

Mrs. Pauline Burrell of Rio Medina was given a birthday surprise at her home Thursday afternoon, by a number of her old friends and neighbors on her 79th birthday. The evening was spent in playing cards and enjoying a nice lunch. Mrs. Mary Jungman, was one of the guests who attended.

M&M William J. Engelbrecht and sons and M&M A. Keller and sons of San Antonio attended a Cub Scout picnic at Camp Coyoca at Castroville Sunday. On their way home, they stopped for a visit with Mrs. Ida Jungman.

M&M Erwin Leossberg of Noonan spent Sunday in Pleasanton with the Lionel Leossberg family.

M&M A. C. Atkins and daughter, Ruby Mae, of Belton, former neighbors of Mrs. Jungman, are visiting in her home for a few days. They are renewing acquaintances with their friends in LaCoste.

The Atkins and Jungmans were neighbors before.

Mrs. Hy. Kruegar of San Antonio spent a few days this week with her mother, Mrs. Ema Haas.

Here in Hondo

M&M R. J. Schulte of Gladewater were weekend guests of their parents M&M Robert W. Schulte.

Cultivated Soil Lost By Erosion

By G. L. Abbott

Erosion has taken its toll on all cultivated land throughout the Medina Valley Soil Conservation District. Recent rains over the District have shown many farmers a need for protecting their fields from excess water.

Although we have just gone through a drought, where water was our greatest need, it can also be our greatest problem through erosion, if our fields are not properly protected. All this loss of valuable land can be stopped if permanent type practices, such as terraces, diversion terraces and waterways are constructed to control the flow of water.

Terraces are being constructed this week on the Henry Moss farm located approximately two miles northeast of Devine. These terraces are being constructed on the level to prevent erosion and conserve as much rainfall as possible.

Farm Ponds

Farm ponds are being constructed on the O. B. Taylor place one mile north of D'Hanis, and on the Ulrich Burger farm south of Dunlay. Farm ponds, when properly located on the range, help in getting a better distribution of grazing. This is very important if a range program is to be a success.

A diversion terrace is being constructed on the W. C. Scott farm south of Hondo. Diversion terraces divert harmful outside water away from cultivated land into pasture land or into seeded waterways. This is needed above most fields in the District, and must be installed if we are going to stop severe erosion on farms and ranches.

Fish orders were filled recently for about 80 farmers and ranchers in the District. Young fish should never be put in a tank that has big fish in it. You are wasting your time when you do this because most of them will be eaten by the larger fish before they become accustomed enough to the tank to hide. When stocking tanks, always get rid of the older fish and you will have more success in the fish raising business.

LET'S BUILD A BETTER CITY; KEEP BUSINESS IN HONDO

By JERRY JUNE BERGER

Last week the Robstown Record had this to say in an editorial.

"Robstown has good schools . . . good stores . . . good storekeepers. If we support these merchants it stands to reason that Robstown will be a bigger, better, more prosperous and a better place to live."

"If we choose to buy elsewhere we choose to support communities other than our own. Robstown's prosperity, or lack of it, is almost wholly dependent upon the amount of trade we give our home-town, tax-paying merchants."

And so it is with Hondo. But this isn't just something meant for the citizens of the town. It is also meant for the merchants themselves, the chamber of commerce and the City of Hondo. Of all folks who should set the example of trading at home and building their own community, it should be these three.

If the article to be purchased is not available here, then that is a horse of a different color. But if it is to be found in Hondo, the purchase should be made right here — where we are all working toward the same ends a bigger and better Hondo to serve more people, better.

DUST VS MUD . . .

Once upon a time there was a bear that stat-ed to all his friends in the forest he had only to look up at the sky, ask for rain, and immediately have his request granted.

His friends were skeptical. They wanted proof. The bear said he'd give them proof when they could decide among themselves just how much rain was wanted or needed.

This happened many years ago, so the story goes, and to this good day, that bear hasn't had to prove his powers — not one of the animals could agree on how much it ought to rain.

Listening to comments in various conversations lately, if that bear was around today, he would laugh head off! One farmer says it has rained too much, another says it won't last, and a short memory one says why doesn't it stop?

For seven long years in this area, we've prayed, conjured and cussed for rain. Now, we have rain — lots of it. Dust storms and a dry parched earth are almost forgotten nightmares.

We have beautiful wildflowers, running creeks, mosquitoes and weeds (bless 'em!). Some farmers still have a chance for a crop and our immediate world has a lush, verdant growth.

Every rose has its thorns but — Lord, aint it wonderful today!

Commencement exercises were just about like old home week for SUPT. CUB BARRY, for included in the graduating class were eight students whose parents BARRY had taught or coached in school a few years back.

The list includes: PARKER MEYER's dad, WALTER; KENETH GRELLO's mother, the former ERNA WIEMERS; BOB BY TAYLOR's father, TONY; JOHN R. WINDROWS' dad, NEWELL WINDROW and his mother, the former HEDWIG LEINWEBER; TOMMY ZUBERBUELER's pop, ROBERT; VIRGINIA CLEMENTS' dad, ROBERT; GAYLE KNAPP'S mother, the former MARY EMMA FINGER; and CONNIE SCHWEERS' mother, the former LOUELLA WIEMERS. Time flies, eh Cub?

CHARLIE LANGFELD, county commissioner of the D'Hanis area, should really be feeling his oats about now. His daughter, ANN LANGFELD, was valedictorian of the D'Hanis graduating class and his son, JOE LANGFELD, 17, was salutatorian. ANN, who plans to go to college in the fall, is working at the Anvil Herald as teletypesetter during the summer months.

PA

RICHARD REILY inquired of us as to whether we had a coincidence column in the paper. It had occurred to him that Hondo has three preachers whose names are HAROLD and we do think that is worthy of mentioning. Said preachers are HAROLD GOODENOUGH of First Methodist, HAROLD CORNELISON of First Baptist and HAROLD EHLINGER of St. John's Catholic.

PA

THE BOB KOLLMANS didn't blow their top, but they do have a new roof on their home. A cedar shake job, the roof will become even prettier as it weathers and ages.

And a new fence is surrounding the W. B. HEDGE home. About seven feet high, MRS. H. says her kids will have a hard time getting up and over this vertically lined red wood wall. Incidentally, ELIZABETH HEDGE, their young daughter, has made a remarkable recovery from her serious injuries of April when she ran in front of a car. She has almost regained her weight loss, her coloring is good, and is keeping her mother busy trying to restrain her from doing too much.

PA

While glancing through some of our neighboring weekly newspapers last week, we noticed the names of several former Hondoans in print. In the Robstown Record, for instance, we saw the name of JUDY DUNCAN, who was taking part in a dance recital and in another story in the same issue we saw that her mother, MRS. MARVIN DUNCAN, was elected historian of their garden club.

Also a garden clubber is MRS. PETE KNOWLES, who, according to the Uvalde Leader News, has been elected treasurer of the Green Thumb organization.

PA

THE ALAMO HEIGHTS NEWS is reporting that this year's group of 106 seniors at Northeast High School is nothing compared to what next year will be when the number of diplomas to be dispensed on graduation night will be nearly doubled.

Not a weekly, but The Dallas News reports that MRS. JIMMIE KOLP of Electra is secretary-treasurer of the OX5 Club, which is composed of pioneer pilots who learned to fly on the OX5 engine. MRS. KOLP will be remembered by Hondoans as the first resident of the house on the hill out near Hondo Base pool.

So you see, the famous American WILL ROGERS was close to right when he commented, "All I know is what I read in the papers."

PA

Good idea — what the Hondo Implement Company is doing around the lot in back of their business. A year ago they started a hedge around their second hand machinery lot and now since the rains it is really showing up pretty and green.

Despite a great deal of swelling and intense suffering, she survived the bite and is now thought to be safely on the way to recovery.

PA

While cranking his car, after the conclusion of services at the Methodist Church last Saturday night, Mr. E. A. Parsons received a "kick" from the motor, breaking his arm.

In the school tax election held in the Biry School District Tuesday, the proposition to increase the maintenance tax from 25 cents to 50 cents on the hundred dollars valuation was carried by a vote of 10 to 8.

Mrs. H. J. Meyer and boys, John Henry and Walter, left yesterday for LaGrange on a visit to Mrs. Meyer's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Holloway.

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

May 27, 1957

Well I guess you thought I would never send you any news about the FBI National Academy. But here goes, which I hope will be of some interest to the paper.

Time is drawing near for the graduation, which will be held on the 6th June, 1957 in the Departmental Auditorium here in Washington. The ten weeks of basic training in all types of law enforcement functions was completed Friday evening after final examination was given to all class members. This examination consisted of all that had been covered during the ten weeks. I am happy to say that I passed this examination, therefore will graduate after two weeks in specialized training. I am taking Administration and organization of a law enforcement department and Police photography.

Mr. John Edgar Hoover, the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, established this Academy for the purpose of sharing the Bureau's training, experience and facilities to selected law enforcement officers from all over the United States. This training consists of nearly the same training that FBI agents are required to take when they enter the Bureau. A student must pass rigid examinations periodically, must qualify at the firearms training which is conducted at the U. S. Marine Base at Quantico, Virginia, be able to compete in pistols shooting, machine gun fire, shotgun firing and gas guns. He must be able to withstand rigid defensive training each day, class room lectures and training courses and record all this work in type each night as the basic training goes along.

Each student is assigned a crime to solve, practical work in law enforcement, technical work in the FBI Laboratory, traffic surveys and how to solve traffic problems, burglary and safe burglaries investigations, records, training and teaching officers schools, lecturing and speaking or speech making, safety education training for schools, and numerous other functions of law enforcement, which I can't tell in a letter.

In this class are 97 officers from the United States and one from Puerto Rico.

I will give you more when I get home as I am unable to remember all the subjects that are taught here during this course, but I will say one thing, this is the best school for law enforcement officers who can qualify there is in the world. So good luck until I see you and all in the Anvil Herald and good Medina County. Sure have missed everybody.

Very truly yours,
Charles J. Hitzfelder

QUOTES SOME PERTINENT FACTS
FROM AUSTIN, TEXAS, STATESMAN

DO TRUCKS PAY COST OF BIG-LOAD ROAD DAMAGE?

The customary scrap is nearing a showdown in the Legislature over the bill which comes in at virtually every session to raise the load limit on commercial trucks on Texas highways. This time, the truckers did not ask that the limit of 50 feet total length of truck-trailer combinations be stretched any further. They propose to raise the gross weight limit from 58,420 pounds to 72,000 pounds, by adding another axle unit.

There are two sources of opposition to the truckers.

The railroads ask why the people of the state should be taxed to provide free highways for trucks, while the railroads must build their own lines, and pay taxes on them.

Also, the motoring public and the taxpayers, insofar as they can get their voice heard in the legislative battle, are asking why they should provide the money to build highways for commercially profitable business utilization. They insist the trucks don't pay nearly enough money in registration fees and fuel taxes to meet the cost of the damage and destruction they do to highways.

They stress that Texas has hundreds of highway bridges which could be jeopardized by the proposed 36-ton weights.

One of their most telling arguments is the fact that Texas has built thousands of miles of farm-to-market roads. These are of light construction. They often provide shortcuts. It is known that operators of heavy truck equipment, both to save distance and to avoid heavy arterial traffic, habitually drive over these light roads. And it is insisted, one such truck can break through the surface of a secondary highway and do many thousand dollars of damage on a single trip.

Another forceful argument is that while the state raised its tax on gasoline for the passenger-car motorist a full one cent a gallon, it hiked the diesel fuel tax for the giant trucks by one half a cent. This leads to the following:

SECO PHILOSOPHER SAYS

Science Meddling With Production Stepping Up

Editor's note: The Seco Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm may be mixed up in his thinking, his letter this week indicates, but then again he may not be.

Dear Editor:

The trouble with farming is that science won't leave it alone.

For example, I was reading last night in a newspaper which an insurance salesman left out yesterday, he didn't sell me any insurance but I think I sold him on taking my name off his prospect list, where scientists at an agricultural research center in Indiana have developed a pill which, when you feed it to livestock they gain a lot faster on less food.

In one test on cattle, steers showed 11 per cent improvement in gain and 9 per cent improvement in feed efficiency.

The scientists immediately hailed this as an important step forward, but that's not the way I see it, and if Sec. Benson is on his toes instead of the farmers' for a change he won't see it that way either.

If cows are going to gain 11 per cent faster and use 9 per cent less feed doing it, anybody who knows arithmetic can see this means a 11 per cent increase in the meat supply and a 9 per cent increase in the feed surplus.

Also, not only are scientists getting cows to use less feed, although I've got one old cow out here I don't believe would respond to their treatment, they're teaching farmers how to grow more per acre.

The way it looks from here, agricultural research is about to bust not only the warehouses but the farmers to boot.

Yours faithfully,

J. A.

Sales of E and H Savings Bonds in Texas for April were $13,577,045. This represents an increase over March of $461 thousand. Nathan Adams and Ed Gossett, Chairman and Co-Chairman of the State Savings Bonds Committee, announced today.

In the first four months Texas achieved 30.4 per cent of its Savings Bonds goal. Total sales through April were $58,737,766. Sales in Medina County amounted to $45,356 during the first four months which was 20.4 per cent of the 1957 quota of $222,410, according to Frank X. Vance, Chairman for Medina County.

New Savings Bonds are better than ever due to improved interest rate. Series E and H Bonds purchased currently will now yield 3 one-fourth per cent compounded semi-annually, when held to maturity. This new rate is effective for all Series E and H Bonds purchased on or after February 1, 1957," Vance stated.

Bandera County leads the state with 83.2 per cent of their entire goal collected.

ABOUT YOUR HEALTH

A weekly public service feature from the Texas State Department of Health
HENRY A. HOLLE, M.D., Commissioner

AUSTIN — Within the next 10 years 100,000 Texans will die of cancer if the present trend continues. That's almost enough people to populate a city the size of Corpus Christi.

Almost 54,000 of these cancer victims will be men, since the disease is now claiming almost 15 percent more men than women. It wasn't always like that, however. Back in 1940, 7 percent less than the female rate, but by 1955 men were leading women by 15 percent. The greatest variance is shown in the 45-49 age bracket, the male death rate exceeding the female rate by 8 percent.

During the 15-year period from 1940 to 1955, comparative rates of cancer deaths for men and women changed considerably. In 1940 the male rate was 7 percent less than the female rate, but by 1955 men were leading women by 15 percent. The greatest variance is shown in the 45-49 age bracket, the male death rate exceeding the female rate by 8 percent.

Significant disparity between men and women is noticed in mortality rates according to body sites attacked by cancer. For example, in cancer of the stomach, the death rate of men is almost 90 percent higher for males than females, and cancer of the larynx kills men 10 times more often than women. On the other hand, women suffer 30 percent more deaths from cancer of the genito-urinary organs than do men.

Cancer of the lung kills six times as many men as women. Eighteen percent of all cancer among men is cancer of the lung, but only five percent of all cancer in women involve the lung.

And as young people mature, the picture changes only slightly. From age 30 to 44, cancer still ranks third as a killer of males, but assumes first place as a cause of death among women. It holds this first-place spot for women through age 59, by which time the disease has crept into second place as a cause of male mortality. At age 60, cancer ranks second for both sexes, falling off into third place after age 75.

ARMY RESERVE HAS NEW ENLIST POLICY

The temporary suspension of enlistments of non-prior service personnel in the U. S. Army Reserve has been explained by Assistant Secretary of the Army Hugh M. Milton (Manpower and Reserve Forces):

His statement issued to the press: Recruitment programs for both the Army National Guard and the Army Reserve since last January have met with unparalleled success, surpassing the Army's most optimistic expectations.

I should like to outline the steps taken by the Army to enhance the mobilization effectiveness of the Reserve components during the last four months and the actions planned to provide adequate training for members of the Reserve components under budgetary limitations.

The growth of the Reserve components of the Army since January 1957 has exceeded that of any other similar period in recent time. The strength of the National Guard has soared to 800,000 — a net increase of 600 men in the past four months. The total unit strength of the Army Reserve has reached an all-time high of approximately 264,000, which includes a net gain of 22,000 new enlistments since Jan. 1. Authorized pay-drill strength of the National Guard is 400,000 and the Army Reserve, 256,000, end of Fiscal Year 1957.

The rate of actual input into six-month training program has increased from a December total of 1,893 to a May allocation of more than 12,000 spaces both the National Guard and my Reserve. These input figures do not include high school students who are deferred or individuals who have enlisted but will enter training until sometime within 120 days after enlistment.

NEW JURY AT WORK

Texas has generated more troubles than one grand jury could see in two months. Hence, a brand new Travis County jury begins this week where the old one left off after digging away all during April and May.

Its study of ICT's past and naturopathic legislation will probably last all summer.

A Dallas grand jury already has indicted Ben Jack Cage, one-time ICT manager, on charges of theft and embezzlement. Authorities are trying to get him returned from South America so he can be tried.

AND WHEN?

Texas' off-again, on-again Insurance Commission is still a prime source of speculation.

Past legislature passed laws abolishing the old board and enabling the governor to appoint new members. It also directed the commission to move within three years from its leased office quarters into a building to be erected with insurance tax revenue. And it passed dozens of new restrictive insurance laws thus the inputs to training established as objectives through fiscal year 1958 have been substantially achieved in stockpiled enlistments now. To have a appreciable number of spaces additional young men who may wish to volunteer for the program during Fiscal Year 1958 the Army will adjust downward the intake of recruits into Army Reserve units by temporary suspension of the enrollment of non-prior servicemen. By resort to the foregoing measure, the Army expects to reap the full benefit of the success of this program which will produce by the end of Fiscal Year 1958 the most effective Reserve Force in our history.

AUSTIN, Tex. — Fifth-fifth Legislators will have a shorter-than-usual "vacation," Gov. Price Daniel says he will call them back, probably about October, for a special session.

Final score showed 47 out of 51, or better than 90 per cent, of the governor's recommended bills passed in the regular session. But the missing 10 per cent are vital, says Daniel. He still wants:

1. His law enforcement commission a sort of statewide grand jury to investigate official misconduct.

2. A lobbyist registration act, registration of persons who represent others before state agencies, and, possibly, other "better government" bills previously advocated.

3. A state plan for buying water storage space in federal reservoirs. A constitutional amendment to do this died in the past session. Since amendments cannot be considered in a special session, the governor said he is working on a statutory plan — possibly the creation of a statewide water district with authority to issue bonds and levy taxes.

4. Action on "other matters that may arise" after the Travis County grand jury reports. Jury is looking into any irregularities that might have caused the ICT Insurance Co. collapse and alleged payoffs to legislators by the Texas Naturopathic Association.

So, instead of the usual post-session lull, the Capitol faces a summer of suspense followed by a frenzied fall.

BONDS GO BEGGING

First sale of the second $100,000 issue of Texas veterans land program bonds attracted no takers.

In today's "tight money" market the constitutionally-prescribed 3 per cent interest doesn't lure buyers, said Land Commissioner Earl Rudder.

He said the bonds would not be offered again until conditions improve.

CROPS LAG

After years of longing for water, most Texas farmers now are trying to "recover" from the rains.

State Agriculture Commr. John White estimates flood damage to crops at $50,000,000 or more. Cotton planting deadlines had to be extended by the state office because farmers were delayed in ploughing their wet fields. Even so, some crop loss was foreseen from inability to plant.

In some areas of North Texas small grains were reported hurt by too much water. But dryland for the new commission to administer.

Old board members Mark Wenzl and John Osorio promptly resigned. But Gov. Daniel refused to accept their resignations. He said they'd have to stay on until their successors were named.

Then Atty. Gen. Will Wilson ruled the insurance tax revenue couldn't be used for a new building. It goes into the general revenue fund and is already earmarked for other things, he pointed out.

And, until the new commission gets going, insurance men over the state are uncertain as to how to comply in detail with some of the new laws.

ETHICS QUANDARY

Just who should do what to comply with the new code of ethics is still being discussed in the Capitol.

Some 163 legislators and state officials have given the secretary of state statements about their connections with businesses under state regulation. Assets ranged from Cuban oil companies to small town dry goods stores.

Sec'y of State Zollie Stealey said failure to file such a statement could be grounds for removal from office, but that he didn't have authority to enforce it.

Gov. Daniel said he saw no need for his filing, since the constitution prohibits a governor's serving as officer or director of a corporation under state regulation. But, he suggested the secretary of state might ask for an attorney general's ruling to clear up other points about the law.

SHORT SNORTS

June will see a rise in the number of job holders in Texas, thanks to school endings, predicts the Texas Employment Commission. More jobs in industry will make up the difference. Morale of Texas prison inmates is good—no longer "hopeless & forlorn"—reported Pardons Paroles Board members after a week-long tour. More space is due as a result of a $3,500,000 appropriation last session.

Owls Lose Regional

A half-dozen errors cost the Hondo Owls the second game of the regional baseball playoffs, here May 30, 7 to 1, and ended their hopes for the regional title.

The game brought to a close a winning season for the Owls, with a record of 15 wins, including the district and bi-district championship against 10 losses.

The final game of the year turned on infield errors, as all eight runs were un-earned. Both pitchers allowed only one hit.

Pitching for the Owls was Tommy Schulte, who struck out four men. He was replaced in the sixth by Alvin Hartman, who fanned two. Chunking for the Seals nine was their ace fastballer, Krchnak, who left seven men wowing.

YANCEY NEWS

By Mrs. Harrison Wilson

The Bill Walters of San Antonio spent the small crowds at last year's games to the time when they were played, rather than a lack of interest. He said that if lights were installed on the diamonds so the games could be played at night instead of in the afternoon, more people would be able to come.

He went on to say that he had received estimates on the cost of lighting the new diamond.

"The lighting would cost about $3,000, but with the donations of materials and labor which we have been promised, we could install and operate them for the first year for about $1,000," Sigler said.

Several men have already donated their time to get the diamond in shape for the playing season, under Max Orta, who has supervised the work.

A meeting for everyone interested in the league is scheduled for Friday night at 7:30 in the Ag Building. To be discussed at the meeting are the lighting question and uniforms for the teams. The newly formed Optimist Club is planning to donate uniforms for one team, which Sigler said would probably be a composite of all the teams that travel to other neighboring towns to play.

JUNIOR LEAGUE BASEBALL TEAMS CHOOSE UP SIDES

Hondo's third year of Junior League baseball gets underway Monday with three games a week scheduled for the Little Leaguers and one a week for the Pony League.

Heading the league this year is Wayne Sigler, who coached a Pony team last season. He is replacing Cliff Sadler, last year's president of the league.

Eight teams have already been picked from the 169 boys who have signed up for the league: six Little League teams for boys between nine and twelve, two for boys between thirteen and fifteen. Interested boys who have not yet signed up should contact one of the team managers, Sigler said.

The league has received several donations, according to Sigler. Universal Rundle has given $200, in addition to the property for the new Little League diamond; the Hondo Drive-In donated $18, which was a part of their gate one night and Frank Jungman of Houston has contributed $10. One hundred and twenty dollars of the money donated has already been spent on equipment for the teams.

Sigler attributed the small crowds at last year's games to the time when they were played, rather than a lack of interest. He said that if lights were installed on the diamonds so the games could be played at night instead of in the afternoon, more people would be able to come.

He went on to say that he had received estimates on the cost of lighting the new diamond.
